My wife and I had been planning our trip to Japan for ages. Endless nights fantasising about spending our honeymoon in one of the most spectacular countries on earth. We opted for a small apartment in downtown Tokyo to get the authentic experience. When you're weighing up the different options, it's worth bearing in mind just how small the apartments in Japan are and the proximity to the other people around you can really catch you off guard. We spent the first 5 days seeing the sights and experiencing everything the city had to offer. However, we soon realised that we were running low on funds and that we couldn't afford to spend any more time in such a pricey place. So we decided to head for the hills and experience rural Japan. This turned out to be the by far the best decision we made. We went on one hike to a hidden temple, it was so tranquil and was an unforgettable experience.
